The raids netted eleven prisoners, a large quantity of cards, dice and poker chips and several thousand dollars' worth of gambling paraphernalia, the latter being destroyed in the places where it was found.

The raiding party included Officers Stay, Duncan, Caddell, Boice, Howrey and Olmstead.

Visiting 1309 South Main street, the officers say they found five men playing poker. The axes were brought into play, the poker table smashed and the five men taken to the City Jail.

The Studio Club at 4528 % Hollywood Boulevard was the next objective. Ernie Primm and five others were arrested. A large quantity of cards and poker chips was found and again the officers brought their axes into play.

At 5635 Hollywood Boulevard, the raiders found the most elaborate outfitting they encountered during the evening. They entered the residence at that address through a window. The place was deserted but they discovered several large crap. blackjack and poker tables. All were chopped to bits.

deserted but they discovered several large crap, blackjack and poker tables. All were chopped to bits.

At $224 Sunset Boulevard, the raiders followed the instructions to "walk in" and found three young men lounging in a clubroom. Another room revealed the searchedfor dice and card tables, according to the officers, and again the axes and hammers were used. The young men were not arrested.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.-To insure an adequate supply of water for the 5,000,000 people who will soon occupy the city of Los Angeles and the surrounding country from Redlands to the sea Congressman Lineberger today introduced a new bill appropriating 1500 cubic second mittee but does not expect this Congress to pass the measure for lack of time. In order, however, to expedite matters in the next Congress he plans to have the Board of River and Harbor Engineers make a preliminary examination and report on the Colorado River water supply so that his bill of today may be speeded up in the next session. To that end he has offered an amendment to be put in by the Senate into his year's river and harbor bill authorizing this first preliminary survey.

Three men were arrested and a moonshine plant valued at $10,000 was confiscated along with 100 gallons of asserted whisky in a raid on a ranch five miles north of Calabasas yesterday.

The men under arrest at the San Fernando jail gave their names as Joe Barnes, Ralph Gallo and Fred Ross.

The raid was conducted under the supervision of George Contrers, chief of the District Attorney's dry squad, and Chief of Police Thompson, of San Fernando. According to the officers the monshine plant was one of the moonshine plant was one of the county of Canada and the county of Riveral and until approved by them the supervision of George Contrers, and the county of Orange, or any municipal subdivisions thereof, all in the State of California, are here by authorised to divert from the Colorado River at a suitable location within and, or, bordering on, the diverted waters as above specified to the diversion and to utilization of the diversion and the county of water, not otherwise appropriated, for municipal and domestic usage in the said counties, and for such

AMERICA TO IMITATE CHIMES OF BELGIUM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Secretary Weeks to day designated the week beginning the 16th inst. for hearings to give all interests in the Great Lakes region and other States an opportunity to present their views on the request filed by Chicago for permission to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michgan for sewage disposal and sanitary purposes.

The Secretary announced his decision to hold public hearings at that time today after studying recommendations by Maj.-Gen. Taylor, Chief of Army Engineers and Maj. R. W. Putnam, district engineer at Chicago, that the city's sanitary district be given a conditional five-year permit to withdraw an average of $500 cubic feet a second from the lake.

Mr. Weeks in a statement also disclosed that Gen. Taylor had questioned the Secretary's legal right to authorize a water intake by Chicago in sicess of 4167 cubic feet a second. An opinion from the Department of Justice, the statement said, had been requested.

Rumor Leonard to Come Out of Retirement for Welter Title Bout in Confab Today

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—There is nothing in the lightweight ny Leonard to get excited

The retired champion admitted this much in his dressing-room at the State Lake Theater today, where he is playing a return date.

Leonard says that George "Knockout" Chaney and Charley O'Connell, now in Billy Gibsen's stable, may cut some figure in the elimination tournament. Benny also says he doesn't blame the fighters from withdrawing from the tournament because of the small percentages which are offered by the Garden promoters.

which are offered by the Garden promoters.
Leonard doesn't exactly say it but he intimates that he

We are reminded of the last fight Benjamin waged at Hollywood under the four-round law. His opponent was "Spug" Myers, the Pocatello "potato king." "Spug," who is about as tough as they make 'em, hit Benjamin a dirty wallop in the first round. Benjamin's courage melted. "Spug" won every round thereafter.

Then we are reminded of the same Spug Myers crashing Ace Hudkins to the floor with a left hook in the second round of their hot ten-round encounter at Hollywood last. Friday night.

Bud Ridley Meets Kid Kaplan in Twelve-Round Bout at Jack Doyle's Arena Tonight

Two world's champions will show themselves to Vernon fans tonight at the Jack Doyle collseum. They are Louis "Kid" Kaplan, recently crowned boss of the feathers, and Mickey Walker, welter king, who rates next to Jack Dempsey in greatness. Kaplan boxes Bud Ridley, holder of the featherweight title of the Northwest, a twelve-round no-decision bout. The title will not be at stake as both principals will come into the ring over the 126-pound limit.

But a victory for Ridley would force a match for the title and this is the goal which is really on the platter, for the fans.

Capt. Gibson, who heads the mission, today laid a wreath at the tomb of Marquis Okuma, who is largely given credit for giving the first impetus to Japanese-American commercial relations.

"The first eight of Yokohama greatly impressed us," Capt. Gibson said, "but after making a tour, noting the reconstruction and observing the spirit of the people, we were amazed to see what has been accomplished. The pluck of the Japanese equals American determination."

Face Murder Trials Today

(ST CABLE AND AMOCIATED PRES) LEIPSIC (Germany) Feb. 3.-Whether the Third Internationale is the question which all German is the question which all Germany is asking about the sixteen Communists who go on trial here to morrow charged with murder and terroristic plots which are asserted to have been financed from Moscow.

Peter Alexander Skoblewvsky, whose right name is believed to be Helmuth-Goreff, is said by the police to have been the representative of the Moscow Communists in organizing the German group whose leader was supposed to be Felix Newmann, a German printer. The trial of the sixteen defendants is expected to be highly political and many prominent attorneys have been engaged by the Communists. The newspapers of the various political parties are making wholesale charges and denials.

Moderator of Philadelphia Says Doctrines Periled

Keep Pulpit Free of Modern Freebooters, He Pleads

Adventurers Unable to Lead People, He Asserts

NEW YORK, Feb. 6. — "Both the historic policy and the blood-bought doctrines of the Presbyterian Church are in danger," Dr. Clarence Edward McCartney of Philadelphia moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, told the Princeton Theological seminary alumni, in annual session at the Yale Club, today.

He pleaded that the church returers and theological freebooters."

"The Presbyterian Church believes," he said, "that men should be as free to teach and preach as the winds to blow. But it also believes it has the right to say what dootrines must be taught and preached and believed by ministers who stand in Presbyterian pulpits under Presbyterian orders. "To receive men into the ministry of the church who disavow its dootrines is to defy the government of the church. Instances where this has been done are not lacking and protests and complaints against such action will be made to the highest court, the general assembly. "Nothing would please destructive liberalism and modernism so much as to see the Presbyterian Church tamely submit to affront or disobedience on the part of any one of its presbyteries or congregations for such acquiescence would mean that the Presbyterian Church had hung out the banner 'All welcome' to every kind of religious adventurer and theological free-booter."

Vegetable Diet Turns Cannibal to Laziest Man

oracious cannibals become gentle egetarians, almost too lasy to other about food, was told today bother about food, was told today by Father Joseph Huskes, who arrived here after four years at the Duke of York Islands in the Bismarck Archipelago. The natives formerly were the most vicious cannibals in the Pacific, delighting in roasting their victims alive.

Since missionaries have introduced them to a different diet and different ways they have gone to the other extreme. Father Huskes says the former cannibals have become tame lotus eaters. They are the laxiest people in the Pacific, sometimes starving because they are too lazy to secure food.

ALIEN EMPLOYMENT TEST IS THROWN OUT

JUDGE SAYS CONTRACT MUST BE SIGNED BEFORE CASE CAN BE TRIED

AUBURN (Cal.) Feb. 9.—Super-ior Judge J. B. Landis of Placer county has substained the de-murrer of Atty.-Gen. Webb and Dist. Atty. Lowell against the in-junction asked by J. F. Dudley of junction asked by J. F. Dudley of Newcastle, who requested the court to prevent Webb and Lowell from prosecuting him in the event he entered into an employment contract with a Japanese for the harvesting and producing of a crop of fruit on an eighty-acre tract owned by Dudley, Webb and Lowell, in their demurrer, contended that Dudley had no cause of action, and that if he desired to determine the validity of the employment contract, he will have to sign it and then come into court.

The so-called employment contract was thought by Dudley's attorney to be within the anti-cropping provisions of the California alien land laws. Lowell contended in a public statement that it was not, but contested the action, along with Webb, on the technical ground complained of in the demurrer,

Safety Comes First

In a time like the present when interest rates are declining, there is a grave danger that investors will accept a poor security in their eagerness to get the same high interest rate which was formerly available.

But experience has proven many times that the sacrifice of safety of principal for high return is never wise - nor profitable.

The guiding principle of the company in the selection of offerings is that safety take precedence over ever other consideration.

Our list of current offerancincludes a wide range of dea.
able securities, yielding 44,5
to 7%, which have met success fully the careful scrutiny we make of every issue we offer our clients. We shall be pleased to furnish you this list on request, without obligation. Phone BRoadway 0327.

Bank says:

"Every user knows that the cost of lumber has increased enormously in the last 25 years. The retail price of construction lumber has doubled within little more than a decade. During the last 80 years the price of lumber has increased three and one half times as fast as the price of all staple commodities....

"The value of annual growth (of timber) naturally will increase with the mounting price of cut lumber. Average stumpage (standing rimber) values for all species and in all regions increased from $1.89 in 1889 to $2.18 in 1899, $2.39 in 1904 and $5.02 in 1919, according to Census Department statistics..."

WORKERS

The average American worker for a long time associated the buying of stock with the well-to-do business man, but now he is himself becoming a stockholder in many of the nation's industries. Any man who is earning a living can afford to invest in the Six Per Cent Preferred Stock of the Southern California Gas Company, and though it may not be convenient for him to make the full cash payment of $92.50 a share, he may pay $5.00 down, and a like amount monthly.

The Connecting Link

ALIFORNIA cities are a great borrowing field— offering safe, conservative, attractive loans on mortgage security.

Enormous reservoirs of Eastern capital, seeking investment, are practically untapped, so far as California mortgages are concerned.

All that has been lacking was the connecting link between borrowers and investors.

The MORTGAGE SALES COM-PANY will supply this link.

Shows Heavy Pressure

The Shell Company's Reyes No. 24, in the Dominguez field, has been showing the heaviest pressure of any well under control in the field, according to reports. This well was drilled to 3692 feet, and casing set at 3606 feet. A shutoff was effected at this point and the crew attempted to kill the well in order to drill, deeper into the oil zone. During the mudding process the pressure increased to such a degree that the gauges, built to register 1060 pounds each, were broken before the well was finally killed.

Official Report

A decline of 42.900 barrels in the average daily production of the nation showed an aggregate of 1,953,300 barrels. Figures for the week ending January 31, of which total decline California contributed 2100 barrels. the Mining Bureau has not of ficially approved the water shulting.

Star Well Wet

Star Petroleum Company's Shoemaker well in the central part of the Rosecrans field is again wet, and flowing at the rate of about 1600 barrels a day, of which 75 percent is water, according to field reports. The well is down 4663 feet, with 5-inch casing set at 4056 feet.

Goes on Pump

The Marland Oil Company has had to resort to the pump to produce from its Domingues No. 1 well, one of the first producers in the southeastern part of the Domingues field, according to field reports. This well came in at about 1000 barrels a day, but declined and was killed to clean out. When this procedure was completed the well refused to fichy, and as a result is being rigged to the pump.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 9.—The mystery of the disappearance of Mrs John Torrance, wealthy Passdena woman, who dropped out of eight after she left her hotel in La Jolla the morning of January 23, last, was solved today when her body was found in a kelp bed in the body, said there was no doubt that it was Mrs. Torrance.

The husband, John Torrance, who has been living at in Jolia directing the search for his wife, was prostrated when he received word the body had been found.

The Coroner took charge and will hold an inquest later.

Mrs. Torrance left the hotel for a walk the day of her disappearance. She was seen to walk first toward the hills and then to turn toward the bills and then to turn toward the cliffs on the shore.

As she was nearsighted and was walking without her glasses it is believed she walked over the cliffs and was carried out by the tide, the body later becoming entangled

Harry Corr BEING a rainy Sabbath ming, I took a street car to Pasadena, where I met by my little playmat Herbert Howe, the writer,

A SOILED TRILBY

And so I bought it. And when I got on the car I occupied myself by peeling off the little printed slip which said, "Made in Austria."

THE GRAND MANNER

I Nevertheless, it was a good cigarette holder. And what does it matter where it was made?

It matter where it was made?

If that had been an American shop girl I would probably have gone back and killed her with a meat ax. It's odd how patient and indulgent we are with the Chinese and Japanese.

Of course, it's their manner. Tou can look down from the galleries upon the whole United States Senate without finding one States Senate without finding one person with the air of dignity

I Going over on the Pasadena car I was impressed with this That Los Angeles is the only city in the world where the peo-ple of the little homes have all hugging the ground of the unin-Angeles, these regal and majes-tic hills have been settled by little bungalows.

It is absolutely amazing—and incredibly stupid—that until the last three years we have ignored our hill country. Not even Im-perial Rome had such a setting as ours—with these great hills looking out upon the mountains. I'm glad that the pay-like-renters have all slipped it over on the idle rich. A DYING PLAYHOUSE A Gliding into Pasadena, I was interested in the half-demolished Lowe Operahouse.

There is something tronic and sad in tearing down a theater.

You can see a furniture factory torn down and know it has not lived in vain. Its chairs are in a thousand homes. But what has an old theater to leave behind it? Money, brains, talent and painful effort have been expended there. What's become of it all?

You can say that it has given forth thoughts and impressions that have become a part of the lives of our people. But I don't

WHAT PRICE FAME?

The movies have been a real educational force. If nothing else they have taught America to furnish its houses. They have driven the plush album off the partor table. They have made Trafalgar Square in Lon-don a sight as familiar in South Dakota as the town pump. Our rich tourist friends can't come back and patronize us any more. We, too, have walked with kings and sailed the seven seas. But I think the American drama has been a failure. Even if it had anything to say—which it hasn't —the prices are too high. At 13 a seat it will never reach enough people to accomplish anything.

The investigation then turned to Bakersheld. At the hotel which had been named by Joseph, Dewar said he found out that Cronis had been there but had left a short time before. Because of this fact, establishing in the mind of the fleputy that Joseph's information was correct, he believes that the man he sought was either the manner of the Barber's' or on Miramar street when he went after him and was enabled to escape because of the asserted police "tip-for" that deputy sheriffs were coming.

HEATH REFUSES

OVER 900 ARRESTS

The vice division, the Chief declared, has been doing excellent work and made over 900 arrests last month under Capt. Davis. "But Chief, did you know that places like the "Sorrento" on West Sixth street, are in existence and that law violations are permitted to go on here practically unmolested?" Chief Heath was asked.

mitted to go on here practically unmolested?" Chief Heath was asked.

"That is not true," was his reply. "We did know that the Sorrento was violating the law and our records show that December 5, last year, I wrote a letter to Lieut, Hollowell, in charge of the vice squad at that time and to Capt. Spellman of the Central Division, giving them the information. Vice Report No. 62726, December 6, 1934, and Vice Reports 16328 and 263L also gave this information. The records further show that January 31, De Santanillo was arrested in the place and that Offgers Appledgra and Owens of the vice division confiscated several cases of champagne and whishy in the place."

or the vice division connected several cases of champagne and whisky in the place."

PRODUCES RECORDS

The Chief then produced the police records mentioned. He also showed a report from uniformed officers who took down the numbers of automobiles seen visiting the place. Another report showed that January 22, last, two youths, each carrying loaded guns, were arrested in front of the place. One of the guns had numbers removed. Felony charges were filed against the prisoners, the Chief said.

The Chief then outlined his plans to help Capt. Home with additional men to round up the gangsters and gun men who had been hanging around Spring street and on West Seventh street, west of Figueros.

"I had two conferences with Capt. Home and he has assured me that he had extra men working on these men and that he has it had." Chief Heath said.

Just what additional measures will be taken to clean up the town the chief did not disclose.

In closing he again repeated that he viewed the Joseph shooting like any other crime. "Just because one gambler shoots another there is no reason to suspect that there was any more gambling going on on that day than the day before or a week before. If gambling is going on we will get it, and in the meantime there is no reason to get excited."

Rush Medical Alumni Hosts to Dr. Burton

Dr. Ernest De Witt Burton, president of the University of Chicago, was the guest of honor at a banquet last night at the Los Angeles Athletic - Club, attended by more than 100 alumni of the Rush Medical College of Chicago. Rush Medical College of Chicago.

The development campaign by the University of Chicago and Rush Medical College, which is now an intregal part of the university, was explained by Dr. Burton. He said it is the hope to raise $17,500,000 as an endowment and research fund, for the university and its branches. It is planned that the university shall be composed of the main institution with two medical schools, one to be known, as the University School and the Rush Post-Graduate Medical School.

The banquet was presided over by Dr. Robert Sweet.

HARD FISTS AND LOVING HEARTS

Never doubt that the heart of a fighter.

Though his manners seem roughish and wild,
As he wallops his foes with swift jabs on the nose,
Is as soft as the heart of a child.

comer in Los Angeles I agree with all the nice things being said of your city, with one exception, the mail delivery in the residential section. Remember, I am speaking only of the one section where I reside. Very often on Saturdays Just second-class mall is delivered. Who is at fault we do not know, but why do some residential sections receive two deliveries regularly and others not?

MRS. ANNIE SMITH.

An Epochal Ode LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—[To the grab a policy of The Times:] Mr. Bailey porarily Editor of The Times:] Mr. Balley Millard, in his fine article on "Brilliant Bayard Taylor" in today's Times, has practically covered the famous author's career as globe frotter, lecturer and poet, but I mote an omission too important to pass over. His "Centennial Ode," which was read at the opening of the truly epochal Philadelphia Exposition, deserves to be classed as one of America's "three greatest odes." The other two are Lowell's "Commemoration" and Harriett Monroe's "Columbian."

Many doubted Taylor's fitness for the coveted honor, but he acquitted himself in a manner that evoked high praise from his fellow-artists. Even the meticulous London' Saturday Review pronounced it "a distinguished the content of the covered achievement." The ode began with

Give light to the eager eyes
Of a land that awaits to see thee rise
Stronger and dearer and fairer."
Simple, straightforward, felicitions in phrase and lofty in spirit, his theme was carried along with sustained brilliancy and a mantery of technical difficulties. Taylor never attained the artistry of Aidrich, but in virility of expression and range of imagination he stands with the elect. Note, for example, the sonority of these lines so rich in vowel sounds:

"First queenly Asia from her fallen thrones
Of full three thousand years
Came with the woe a grieving goddess owns
Who longs for mortal tears.
The dust of ruin to her mantle clung
And dimmed her crown of gold,
While the majestic sorrows of her

Court Records Missing in Katz Car Theft Case

A sensation was sprung at the preliminary hearing yesterday of Guy R. Peterson, charged with the theft of an expensive automobile from the estate of the late Harry I. Kats, when Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ey announced that a bill of sale for the machine had disappeared from Probate Court records. An investigation into the disappearance of the document will be instituted, Ey Peterson's defense is that Kats never paid for the car and, therefore, his-estate has no claim to it. Proof of ownership of the disputed property hinges on the bill of sale, it is declared.

The hearing was put over until tomorrow after Justice Ballard heard the testimony of several witnesses. Witnesses included Dora Katz, mother of the slain musician and diamond broker; Sam Katz, a brother, and Police Officer Whaley, who arrested Peterson in San Francisco.

Francisco.

Mrs. Kats testified that when the estate of the slain broker was thrown into bankruptcy the carwas turned over to her. Sam Kats asid he drove the machine to town on December $1, last, and that it was taken from the street, where he left it parked. Kats testified he had not transferred papers of ownership of the car.

In other words, write your letter, mail it to some one you know or to your home-town paper and send a copy to the Prize Letter Editor of The Times, Los Angeles. The genuineness of letters will be subject to check.

(4.) Every letter must bear the name and address of the person or paper to whom the original has been mailed, and the name and address of the writer. Put these on the letter itself; not on a separate sheet. Write on one side of the paper only.

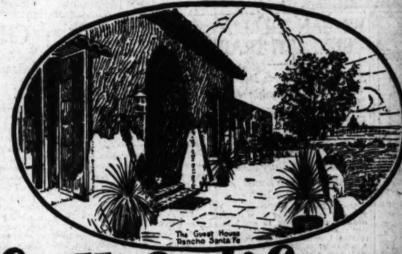

(5.) All contestants must be persons now living in Southern California, that is, in Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Tulare, Kings, Inyo or Kern counties. Temporary residents are eligible. It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times.

uito", as the old Mission Fathers San Dieguito", as the old Mission rathers called it. Of the color and atmosphere of these early days there are now only a few traces left—Rancho Santa Fe being one, thanks to the Santa Fe Railway which has preserved and developed this one spot, to be dedicated to the romance of a by-gone day, yet replete with every conve of modern civilization.

A hundred years ago when California thrived as a transplanted bit of Old Spain, Don Juan Osuna built and lived in the an-cient adobe manor house which today stands intact on the property. Don Osuna was given the choice of all the best acres of the Southland as a reward for faithful service, and he chose this ranch because even in and he chose this ranch because even in those days it was known as the spot wherein could be obtained peace and plenty. Adjacent to the San Diego-Los Angeles Highway, watered by a permanent stream, set snugly within the sheltering slopes of sunny hills, it had the soft breezes of the Pacific to prowide ideal temperatures for his person comfort and the growth of his crops.

Today Rancho Santa Fe under the business aidance of the Santa Fe Railway is fast taking sape as the West's most distinctive rural deve-

The Premier promised Ramsay MacDonald and David Lloyd George to set aside a day before Easter for discussion of the government's policy on safeguarding industry which, is salleged, is merely getting veiled protection.

Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, told a questioner that the discussions with the Egyptian government were going on satisfactorily and that it was proposed to appoint immediately an expert committee to examine the proposals which have raised much alarm in Egypt.

The sessions promise to be dull, being devoted chiefly to finance. The only measure which is likely to provoke bitter fighting is a proposal by the Conservatives to repeal the trade-union political levies act. This act gave the trade unions the right to make levies on members for political purposes and is the source of most of the Labor party's supplies. A member who objected could contract out by writing to the secretary, but it is contended that this made him a marked man, it is proposed now to restore voluntaryism to the Labor party's contributions from the trade unionists. The measure will be resisted vigorously by the Labor party.

mission in reaching its conclusions fully considered all matters presented by the railroad and valued every item.

Replying to testimony of Judge Robert S. Lovett, regarding the financing of the railroad and its relation to the Union Pacific, the brief says:

"If Union Pacific stock advanced 25 points in market value during 1924, as Lovett testified, the valuation complained of could not have had any materially injurious effect. Had the valuation of the Los Angeles and Sait Lake, which is in large part controlled by the Union Pacific through the Oregon Short Line, been too low, the injury would have been felt by the Union Pacific through the depreciation in the market value of its own securities."

shot which is especially valuable.
Her putting is nothing startling,
but she is not a poor putter.

When Jack Root was in the East recently lining up some attractive cards for the spa-cious Olympic Club, which is going up at Eighteenth and Grand avenue, he had quite a talk with George E. Brower, chairman of the New York Boxing Commission.

Boxing Commission.

Jack says Brower was very much in favor of having some of the foreign contenders fight western talent at the Olympic Club, the winner to move on to New York.

But Jack says this is hardly possible as the Olympic Club will not be ready until the middle of April or the first of May. He suggests Jack Doyle as the logical candidate, the Vernon promoter being the only party with a pavilion large enough to seat the multitude.

There is a big guy in this town with a million-dollar name and a pair of wicked mitts. He is spoiling for a fight with any of the light heavy-weights or heavyweights hereabouts, but if he's as tough as his manager indicates the Huffmans, the Fuentes, the Farmers, et al., probably will all duck him.

His name is King Solomon, a native Panaman, and his manager is Wirt L. Ross. Most of his fights have been with tough colored parties down in South American countries, and his record means little here with one exception.

The exception is the decision he holds over Alex Rely, who twice knocked Romero Rojas, the Chilean heavy, kicking.

That is sufficient to establish his class. for Romero is only two notches removed from Tommy Gibbons in Tex Rickard's all-star heavyweight selections for 1924.

LIGHTWEIGHTS PAIRED OFF

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Feb. to .- Fifty boxers, club promoters attended a meeting of the State Boxing Commission held today. It was decided that the lightweight tournament be held on February 23. There will be eight bouts, four of which are to be held in Madison Square Garden. The remainder will be held in smaller clubs which are to be selected at a meeting next Friday afternoon. Fourteen bosers were paired. Pairs were chosen from a hat containing individual slips of paper upon which the names of the boxers were written. The pairs chosen were:

Benny Valger and Alex Hart, Jack Bernstein and Basil Galiano, Solly Seeman and Archie Walker, Charlie O'Conneil and Joe Dundee: George Chaney and Tommy O'Brien, Jimmie Goodrich and Eddy Wagner; Clyde Jeakle and Rocky Kansas.

March 25, $15,000,000; March 17, $15,000,000. The total sum lent France that month—more than four months after the war had ended—was $210,000,000 an average of more than $7,000,000 a day. Geing back over the record, it is found that March. 1919, recorded the high mark of French borrowings. At not time within the two previous years or since American entry into the war, did France berrow so much within a single month as she borrowed from us that month of March, 1919, long after the war had been brought to a successful termination.

Leans to other Aillies that month totaled $40,000,000 to Begium, $5,000,000 to Begium, $20,000 to Begium

BY WILLIAM P. HELM, JR. NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—At 11 o'clock in the morning of November 11, 1918, when the last gun of the World War was silenced, the principal of the French national debt to the United States government stood at an even $2.000,000.—000. That sum represented the cash actually advanced to France from the American Treasury. She had spent it all in the ways of war—for munitions, cotton, feed.

Railways in Fair Condition After Restoration

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCE) MONTEREY (Mex.) Feb. 10.— During the ten-year period of 1914 to 1924 the National Rallways of Mexico suffered losses from depredations by revolutionists aggregating approximately $4,000,000 United States currency, according to an official report just submitted to president Calles by E. Oca-be used by Calles as a basis for government shall immediately reurn the National Railways to pri-turn the National Railways to private ownership and operation. The estimate of losses made by Senor Liano is far below the popular belief of the amount of damage inflicted upon the property. Some unofficial estimates in the past placed the total losses as high as $25,000,000 United States currency. It is stated that, taking the National Railways of Mexico as a whole, the system is in fairly good thysical condition and adequately sumplied with rolling stock at this time. This is particularly true of the trunk lines leading to the border aterminals of Laredo and El Paho.

Much work has been done in the shops of the company in the matter of repairing and rebuilding equipment. The roadbed of all the principal lines is in condition equal to that of the prerevolutionary period, it is asserted.

that of the prerevolutionary period, it is asserted.

Some of the branch lines where traffic is light are badly in need of repairs, but it is explained that improvements are being extended to them as rapidly as possible.

Several large industries which operated private freight trains under lease have abandoned that practice and are now being satisfactorily served by the regular transportation facilities.

Hylan is concerned as a result of the report of Supreme Court Justice McAovo blaming the Mayor for the transit congestion.

With the Mayoralty election less than a year away, the metropolitan press today devoted columns of news and editorials to the political aspects of the situation.

With the exception of the Hearst papers, which have consistently supported the Mayor during his two terms, the majority of the dailies generally praise the McAvoy report and forecast the climina ion of the Mayor as a third erm candidate. The Hearst papers and the Mayor call the report a whitewash of the State Transit Commission.

ing monopoly enjoyed there by German and British firms to place today its first orders for American dyes and textile machinery, it was announced by the All-Russia Textile Syndicate, Inc. the official trading company here.

The order for dyes, described as "considerable," was placed with the DuPont interests in Wilmington, Del., the Russians saying they found certain American quantity production dyes were superior to those made in Germany.

The Russian syndicate contracted for a trial order of textile machinery with Saco-Lowell Shops and the Universal Winding Machine Company of Boston, following a six weeks study of New England mill methods and machinery by N. Hollywood is like Gaul in being divided into three parts, and is manifestly as temperamental, gay, domestic and achieving. Thus writes The Normad of the Booten, the part of the part of the property of the part of the part

And none with eyes could deny that Hollywood is a beautiful place. What does it consist of? It is in fact a faubourg of Los Angeles, continuous with that city, administratively a part of it, shading off into other faubourgs, but nevertheless possessing a character of its own. If is continually spoken of, even here, as if it were a separate city, like Pasadena. As you drive or walk through it. Hollywood has the same character of a special place. For the most part it is a plain lying under high dry hills, up the sides of which its streets climb. The hills lie toward the north of the section and gather up the powerful rays of the California sun. The streets on the hillsides wind pictur-squely up and down and in and out. They are, where settlement has been long enough, planted with beautiful trees, mostly palma, eucalyptus and pepper, or the perfectly beautiful pines and firs which seem to be peculiar to this region. The houses are often fantastic in style, and run mostly to the Spanish-American one-storied type with stucco walls and a patio. Almost uniformly they suit the aspect of the yellow hillside and look warm and homelike amongst their surrounding foliage. Now and then there is a Swiss chalet. The only houses that look decidedly out of place here are those of New England Colonial architecture. These are incongruous and obtrusive. It is a great mistake to try to carry Massachusetts to California with you.

ALL WESTWARD-BOUND Hollywood is a long strip run ning westerly from the city, and carrying the whole romance of a westerly destination with it. Wandering in it, I think of George Meredith's "Woods of Westernain" inhabited at last. It seems as if no one really should inhabit such a place of enchantment, but here it is, inhabited by many thousands. The strip is traversed throughout by three main east and west avenues—Hollywood, Sunset and Santa Monica boulevards, (Any well-paved thoroughfare is a "boulevard" here.) Along these boulevards there is a constant stream of automobiles, nine out of ten of which seem to be whirling toward the westward, as if under the most incessant and active impulsion of the Star of Empire. Everybody is looking all the while for something more westerly. Under this played has already out-Hollywood-ed itself and become Beverly Hills. The thing gies on until you plunge into the Pacific at Santa Monica. I am really surprised that all these automobiles, in their obedience to the impulse, do not dive off the cilff at Santa Monica and disappear under the tocean waves that roil carrying the whole romance of a

In 1921 the dividend was reduced to 10½ per cent and the total undivided profits from the date of organization reached $2,572,105. In 1922 exhibits indicated a 9 per cent dividend was declared, and in 1923 this was increased to 12 per cent. Total undivided profits from the date of organization reached $2,572,105. In 1922 exhibits indicated a 9 per cent dividend was fished as shown in the company up to that date.

Pressed as to whether he did not consider it his duty as representative of the Allen Property Custodian to secure the largest price possible for seized enemy holdings, Richard H. Trent testmed he believed his first duty was to "break the strangle-hold of enemy aliens on American business in Hawaii."

"I considered the Alien Property Custodian had a right to sacrifice such assets at any figure he saw fit, if by so doing the interests rifice such assets at any figure he saw ft, if by so doing the interests of this government would have been best served." Trent said.

STOCKS UNDERSOLD

Attorney Theodore Roche, for the plaintiffs, informed the court that he proposed to prove, "partly by evidence in this witness's own handwriting," that certain sugar stocks were purchased by defendants in the present action for $2,000,000, when the stocks had an actual market value of approximately $4,000,000.

That Trent was not fully in accord with an alleged plan of some of the other directors in American Factors to negotiate an auction saile of sugar agency stocks in large blocks, was indicated in a telegram from Trent to Palmer in November, 1918. Trent, it appeared, forwarded the proposal indorsed by the other directors to Palmer, with an attached comment cautioning the Alien Property Custodian against acceding to the plan. Palmer, it was brought out, subsequently rejected the proposal and the enemy-owned share in the sugar agencies were disposed of at public auction in small lots.

Redirect examination of Trent will be resumed tomorrow.

then you sniff at it because it is the story is entertained and has a profound meaning, then it eaching doesn't please you.

If the acting is above reproach and the story is entertaining and the meaning is plenty profound, then it isn't sincere.

What in heck do you mean by "sincere," anyhow? I am sure I don't know—and it's one of my favorite expressions.

Letter to Mary

Pickford

Dear Miss Pickford:
I know something about you that the public doesn't know—something that I doubt if you realize yourself.

Your trouble is that truth. You haven't conceit enough for your own good.

My dear little Miss Pickford, stop asking advice; stop worrying about this and that; stop worrying whether you should do little-girl parts or grown-up regular lady parts; whether you should do hokum or scorn it.

whether you should do little-girl parts or grown-up regular lady parts; whether you should do hokum or scorn it.

Do whatever you want to do. Please yourself and don't bother about pleasing anybody else. That's sound advice and I'll tell you why.

A very clever fellow wrote that you are not an actress; you are the queen of your people—he said something. That's literally true.

It's your personality that has made you famous. Express it. Express it to the very fullest. Whenever you begin taking the judgment of other people, then you reduce, by just so much, the force and power of your own individuality.

There will never be another Mary Pickford. Be Mary Pickford to the fullest and the free-est.

Mary, fer Gawd's sake, can the "Yesmen" and do whatever you damn please. Be the queen. Make us like whatever you like.

A Letter to Aileen Pringle

Dear Miss Pringle:
You do some of the best and some of the best and some of the best acting I have ever seen.
You have brains and character and force. But you don't always know how to get this over to the audience with the movements of your hands, face and body. Many times you destroy the force of the emotion that your keen, quick brain has evolved, by uncertain, erring technique.
You have terrific power, dignity, distinction and force. You suggest immense potentialities.
But, dear Miss Pringle, you suffer from having climbed in through the cabin windows. You "arrived" too quickly. Before it is too late, get busy and make a real study of acting. Be humble and learn the little things that go to make up screen technique.
You are like an automobile with a mighty pulsing engine, but a patched-up set of tires.

Dear Mr. Colman:

Dear Mr. Colman:

In many ways you are the best of them all. You have depth and dignity. You have also a certain indifference, a certain scorn that is a great asset. You have a certain aloofness. We all feel sort of "sat upon" when we see you act; but, b'gosh, we all love it.

But a word of warning:

No matter what the circumstances, don't ever let any director persuade you to overact. You are tuned too finely. Just one shade too much and it sounds like a violin playing "flat." I never saw you do it but

Dear Miss Rich:

I don't know who you are or anything about you.
The only time I ever saw you was in Cecil De Mille's
"The Golden Bed."

To be frank about it, you made me sit up as though an electric shock had hit me. You are the biggest bet of the screen this year.

You have poise and deliberation. You don't make unnecessary motions. You have a wonderful Mona of turning your eyes before you do your head—then

You have beauty and what charm."

But you also have rocks ahead.

What is liable to happen to you is this: You will get great notices for your work in "The Golden Bed"—particularly that slow, enigmatical, inscrutable Mona Lisa smile. And, in all probability, you will be so pleased with yourself that you will try to do it again. But don't forget, dear Miss Rich, that stuff of that kind could easily become monotonous. It was great in that part; but that was a part in which the situations were—so to speak—pushed up for you to smile at.

Don't overwork that particular technique. I think you will, but I hope you won't.

A Letter to Betty Bronson

Dear Little Peter Pan:
You have the hardest problem of all.
You are going to have to struggle out of the mire of that one part. In all your life, you will never have such another part as Peter Pan. In it you were young and sweet and beautiful. You had the touching, sweet, tender youth that Maude Adams didn't have.

But don't forget this, the part of Peter Pan was absolutely made up of tenderness and sympathy. All you had to do, so to speak, was to float along on that sympathy and tenderness.

From now on, you will have to make your own sympathy. Barrie had already won the public for you. He handed you a tame cat with a leading string around her neck; in future pictures, you will have to struggle to get what Barrie handed you already made.

Your great danger will be that you do not really know how to act. You have had no opportunity to study the technique. These people who tell you:
"Don't act; just be natural," are kidding, either you or themselves—perhaps both.

It is a subtle and difficult art. Heaven send that you may get good directors, and that you may listen to them with proper humility.

You are facing a cruel test. Other girls have been able to edge their way along, making mistakes and quietly benefiting thereby. But you are in a position where you must make all your mistakes in public. And you will not be allowed a margin of many of them.

But, of course, you know and I know how much of this is to be taken seriously.

You are one of the greatest artists the world has ever known. I don't know but the very greatest. With one single picture you changed all the traditions and technique of directing pictures.

As an actor you absolutely stand alone. You come walking down an empty street, and so great is your art that you leave an ineffaceable tradition—just walking alone down a street.

McLagien and "Bill" Russell staged the thrilling fight in "The Beloved Brute," they virtually wrecked the set. It had been known for days that the fight was impending and, while it was fully presentable and take encounter. Mr. McLagien was a champion boxer in the British Army during the World War and after the armistice fought Jack Johnson six rounds to a draw in Vancouver. He is a man of enormous strength, skilled in the prize ring. He and Russell fought and fought hard in "The Beloved Brute."

Brute."

Too Much Realism

Beneath a summer sun, "Bill" Desmond and Al Smith fought a two-fisted fight in a clearing away back on the Universal lot some months ago to put a punch in "Big Timber." This, too, was a vicious battle and real blood ran as the two perspiring men gave and took the best they had. Gathered about them was a circle of roughly dressed timbermen, lending picturesqueness to the battle. Perspiration rolled down their faces and mingled with blood until they were smeared with gore.

The fight ended when Desmond landed a hard blow on Smith's jaw and the latter crumpled down in a heap. He did not rise. A tiny stream of blood flowed from a cut in his scalp. The onlookers best over him and found him unconscious—not from the blow on the jaw, but from the impact resulting when his head struck a pine cone as he fell. The studio ambulance took him to the hospital. The injuries were not serious, but persons who see the fight in "Big Timber" may know that Desmond's opponent ended up in the hands of surgeons.

The most noted film fight—one which constantly is referred to when screen encounters are discussed, occurred in "The Spoilers," filmed several years ago. In this, "Bill" Farnum and Tom Santschi were the combatants. And yet there are many who will say that the fight staged by Santschi and Mitchell Lewis in "Frivolous Sal," a First National picture produced by J. K. McDonald, is a greater encounter than that in "The Spoilers."

"Artistic" Fighting
The "Frivolous Sal" fight was in a

The "Privolous Sal" fight was in a in the street, the "Privolous Sal" results were accomplished largely through use of the make-up box and its store of red, blue and black greasepaint.

There was more "art" in the latter contest.

In the spectacular encounter between John Richardson and William Jeffries in "The Fire Patrol," the latter was hit solidly by Richardson and tumbled from his footing on a ship into the Pacific Ocean. Of course, a boat was waiting to pick him up and he was uninjured. Harry Carey and Frank Hagney, a widely known athlete, fought in "Roaring Rails," with little damage accruing to either. Tommy Meighan, an idel of the fans, shows his fighting strength in an encounter with a great hulking man in "The Alaskan," and Richard Dix engages in a roughand-tumble fight with two men in "Manhandied."

The idea must not be gained that screen fights are pretty little makebelieve affairs. A lot of them are strenuous. The day has passed when cinematic battles can be put over with right fisticuffs. A screen idol, to maintain his prestige in the eyes of admirers, must be able to deliver a heman fight. Advancement in technique, more liberal use of the make-up kit and careful rehearsals will help him, but there must be masculinity in his battling if he is to "get by."

"LEARNING TO LOVE"

It is the attorney, though, who proves the real source of fascination for herself. Because he assumes the attitude of a mentor with her, she becomes all the more determined that this shall be her great conquest.

By degrees the situations build up to the point where three of her admirers are ready to kill each other on sight. The attorney, however, remains quite aloof and elusive, but is sealously pursued by Pat.

The citmax is a battle royal between the assorted suitors on the front steps of the aunta' home. Patricla observes this from a taxicab, and then appropriately worried about all the mischief that she has caused, dashes off to the apartment of the attorney.

Here she meets with a very frigid reception. Word is received over the telephone that the young men who had been squabbling have been jailed, and Pat's guardian informs her that he will demand that she marry the next young man with whom her name is linked.

Being now uncompromisingly in love with her guardian, Pat decides to take no chances on who this will be. She fixes the door of the apartment so that it can be opened without a key, and returns and spends the night there.

The attorney does not become aware of this, however, until the next morning. He tries to pretend that he had been away at the club, but his valet gives him away. Then the girl calls up Town Topics.

When a paragraph appears setting forth the fact that she had spent the night at the attorney's apartment, he, of course, declares that he will marry her. As the valet had indicated to the girl, he is actually in love with her, though his manner still does not indicate anything of this.

Finally, in a rather piquant scene showing Connie in negligee, on "her bridal night," he tells her that he has no intention of playing the role of husband. There is a very frosty parting, and Connie leaves for Europe, to obtain a divorce in Paris.

The story winds up rather rapidly. Connie meets an old lover of here on the boat, very generously inebriated, who ascribes his condition to the fact that she has turned him down. In a fit of sentiment she agrees to marry this young chap.

The arrival in Paris alters her in-this young chap.

The arrival in Paris alters her intention, for it is only a week after she has gotten there that her husband shows up. For a while she wavers between her promise to the other young man and her affection for her guardian, but her ultimate decision, if it might be called such, can without difficulty be surmised.

The real highlights of the continuous contents of the real highlights of the contents of the real highlights of the contents of the real highlights of the contents of the contents be called such, can without difficulty be surmised.

The real highlights of the picture are Connie's very spontaneous impersonation of the firtatious young heroine, and in addition some of the situations that are full of boisterous comedy, like the battle royal between her suitors. Certain of the spicier scenes carry their spiciness to a rather Frenchy extreme that may not be the best thing in the long run for the star herself. It is to her credit that her charm and gayety of manner helps to take the taint out of these.

Johnny Harron does one of the best bits of acting as a shelkish young admirer of the heroins. Moreno's presence is dignified, and befits his character; his acting is somewhat studied, but convincing withal. Wallace MacDonald as the professor; Emily Fitzroy and Edythe Chapman as the aunts, and Byron Munson as Count Cuckoo are others who will interest, as do also Ray Hallor and Alf Goulding, Edgar Norton and Percy Williams also appear.

The feature was photographed by Ray Binger and Victor Milner, and William Cameron Mensies was art director.—[Edwin Schallert.

You have terrific power, dignity, distinction and force. You suggest immense potentialities.
But, dear Miss Pringle, you suffer from having climbed in through the cabin windows. You "arrived" too quickly. Before it is too late, get busy and make a real study of acting. Be humble and learn the little things that go to make up screen technique.

APPLES" contains none of the cheap sentimentality one might be led to expect from this class of film. There is a love affair in the plot, it is true, but it is minimised, though running through the feature.

Though much of the charm of the book is retained, much there is, of course, that cannot be incorporated into a photoplay. Raffles cannot, as in the book, be the criminal, though it is permissible for the audience to think so till the concluding scenes. So, instead of appearing as a finished crook and remaining so after the picture is ended, poking fun at the police for their stupidity in allowing him to remain at liberty. Raffles is a secret agent of Scotland Yard.

There is something in this relation of his to the famous organization that is not easily understandable. It is unthinkable that the chief of the Yard would be ignorant that Raffles is the service's most trusted agent. Yet this state of affairs exists and the chief deliterately attempts to catch the cruckwam. Raffes, alias Raffes of Scotland Yard. Which won't, perhaps, go so good in England, where they know differently, although it may pass here.

The picture opens on board a ship bound for Liverpool. On the last night out a diamond necklace is stolen, as by an unseen hand, from a woman.

Though all passengers are searched at the pier, the diamonds cannot be found, principally because the thief, Raffles, has entrusted them to the robbed lady's husband. He unknowingly believes them to be a carton of cigarettes.

After the search Raffles recovers the jewels by tendering the husband another box, claiming that he had given him the wrong package.

In this manner is the master thief introduced. A day or so later a friend, Bunny Manners, drops in and takes him to a weekend party at the country home of Lord Anstreth, uncle of the woman whom Bunny hopes to make his wife. Raffles consents

Gwen.

To this week-end party comes also Capt. Bedford, head of Scotland Yard. He does not know Raffles and confides in him, as to the other guests, that the amfiteur cracksman, whom all England is seeking, is in the neighborhood and that he intends to pit his intelligence against that of the notorious criminal. Lord Anstreth shows his burglar-proof safe and the only means by which a third could open it without throwing on lights in every room and section of the estate.

At dinner Raffles meets Lady Gwen and falls in love with her. Bunny pleads his case with her, but, after seeing Raffles, she does not respond. In despair he asks Raffles to say a word for him. Raffles consents, and speaks eloquently to Gwen of Bunny and his love for her.

Gwen thinks Raffles is speaking for himself and, being in love with him, accepts him. Raffles finds himself in Bedford follows Raffles to London, determined to prove him a thief. He is asked by a Mrs. Vidal, a vindictive woman who has been disappointed in not being able to establish an "affair" with Raffles. She swears she can identify him as the cracksman. She also makes this charge to Gwen, and Gwen hurries to London to warn Raffles.

Gwen is hiding in Raffles's room when Bedford and his men swoop down upon them. Raffles manages to escape through a trick panel, taking Gwen with him. In the safe the chief finds a letter addressed to him, advising him to ask Scotland Yard for information as to Raffles's identity.

ask Scotland Yard for information as to Raffles's identity.

In the final scenes, aboard the ship on which Raffles and Gwen are boneymooning, it develops that Raffles is a secret agent of Scotland Yard and that the real cracksman has been caught.

At times much uncertainty and many inconsistencies exist to confuse the spectators' minds. How the pearls are stolen from the safe which is under surveillance is unexplained, as is their return. One knows that Raffles committed the deed, but no inkling is given as to how he accomplished it. And one wonders why he should be at the back of so many thefts, seemingly for no reason at all. No cause is brought forward for any of his crimes at any time during the action of the picture.

For all these illogicalities, however, the picture is decidedly diverting. It is intended, primarily, for entertainment and in no instance does the director forget this paramount issue.

LEARNING TO LOVE" (Joseph Schanck-First National)

Because it is a revelation of the ringtime charm and offerventures of nestance Talmadge, "Learning to ove" should most with popular aproval. Especially in the earlier scenes see it disclose some of her brightest taracteristics as a comedience.

The story itself is uneven and inimed to be trits and commonplace have the case, but the performance by first Talmadge herself does much to recent this. The supporting cast, headed y Aattmin Morene, is also superior.

HE authorship of "Learning to Love" is credited to John Emerson and Anita Loos, who have in the past devised some of the most effective of Miss Talmadge's plays, and their sense of comedy is plentifully evidenced in individual sequences. The picture was directed by Sidney Franklin, and there is an air of deft lightness in the treatment of many of the situations that reflects.

with itself, but the trend of the hap-penings in the life of the heroine is interesting.

Connie appears as Patricia Stanhope—otherwise known as Pat the Petter—who never misses a chance to be made love to by any eligible or nearly eli-gible young man who happens along.

In the girls' finishing school, just before graduation, she vamps one of the professors, twitters her eyelids at him as h₂ is delivering a lecture, so that he almost chokes with embarrassment, and prevails upon him to say good-bye to her in quite a lover-like good-bye to her in quite a lover-like way.

This introduction of the character that Connie plays is really novel, with the setting of the schoolroom and the star appearing as one of the pupils. It is actually only an introduction, for the professor is subsequently lost to view in the development of a host of other romances.

Patricia makes her home with two maiden aunts, and in addition has a guardian, a young attorney. The aunts, typically prim and sedate, are, of course, quite worried about her many firtations, and they have prevailed on the attorney to do what he can to bring her to time.

Patricia's beaux accumulate. They comprise not only several young comeos, but also a foreign nobleman, who she nicknames quite gratuitously Count Cuckoo.

credit on his ability. In both the fusiance of the scenario writers and the director, one feels, however, a certain effort in actually carrying the picture through to an acceptable finish, and for this the almost too alender plot is chiefly to blame.

It is easy, of course, to imagine Constance Talmadge in the role of a heroine who is the idol of all the young men in her set. Connie's personality is essentially that of the gay and attractive American girl, and in respect to the character that she plays, "Learning to Love" offers her a very satisfactory opportunity.

The opening of the picture breezes along. It has the disadvantage of being told as a cut-back, and one wonders when the film will finally catch up

Alleen Pringle

Dear Miss Pringle:
You do some of the best and some of the worst acting I have ever seen.
You have brains and character and force. But you don't always know how to get this over to the audience with the movements of your hands, face and body. Many times you destroy the force of the emotion that your keen, quick brain has evolved, by uncertain, erring technique.
You have terrific power, dignity, distinction and force. You suggest immense potentialities.
But, dear Miss Pringle, you suffer from having climbed in through the cabin windows. You "arrived" too quickly. Before it is too late, get busy and make a real study of acting. Be humble and learn the little things that go to make up screen technique.
You are like an automobile with a mighty pulsing engine, but a patched-up set of tires.

A Letter to Ronald Cols Dear Mr. Colman:

In many ways you are the best of them all. You have depth and dignity. You have also a certain indifference, a certain scorn that is a great asset. You have a certain aloofness. We all feel sort of "sut upon" when we see you act; but, b'gosh, we all love it. But a word of warning:

Dear Miss Rich:

Dear Miss Rich:

I don't know who you are or anything about you. The only time I ever saw you was in Cecil De Mille's "The Golden Bed."

To be frank about it, you made me sit up as though an electric shock had hit me. You are the biggest bet of the screen this year.

You have poise and deliberation. You don't make unnecessary motions. You have a wonderful Mona Lisa smile. You have a good mouth, and you know just what to do with it. You have a wonderful trick of turning your eyes before you do your head—then accenting your point by the slow turn of your golden dome.

ne. You have beauty and what Barrie calls "that damn charm."

But you also have rocks ahead.

What is liable to happen to you is this: You will get great notices for your work in "The Golden Bed"—particularly that slow, enigmatical, inscrutable Mona Lisa smile. And, in all probability, you will be so pleased with yourself that you will try to do it again. But don't forget, dear Miss Rich, that stuff of that kind could easily become monotonous. It was great in that part; but that was a part in which the situations were—so to speak—pushed up for you to smile at. Don't overwork that particular technique. I think you will, but I hope you won't.

Don't overwork that particul bu will, but I hope you won't.

Letter to Gloria Swanson

Dear Gloria:

Dear Gloria:

I have known you since you were a little extra girl in a bathing suit over at the Mack Sennett lot; so I am going to speak confidentially.

My dear Gloria, I don't know whether this heavy millionaire stuff of yours in Paris is a conscious pose, or whether you are just feeling rich and haughty.

You have a line that no other girl ever dared try. Hang on to it, Gloria.

A Letter to Betty Bronson

Dear Little Peter Pan:
You have the hardest problem of all.
You are going to have to struggle out of the mire of that one part. In all your life, you will never have such another part as Peter Pan. In it you were young and sweet and beautiful. You had the touching, sweet, tender youth that Maude Adams didn't have.
But don't forget this, the part of Peter Pan was absolutely made up of tenderness and sympathy. All sweet, tender youth that Maude Adams didn't have.

But don't forget this, the part of Peter Pan was absolutely made up of tenderness and sympathy. All you had to do, so to speak, was to float along on that sympathy and tenderness.

From now on, you will have to make your own sympathy. Barrie had already won the public for you. He handed you a tame cat with a leading string around her neck; in future pictures, you will have to struggle to get what Barrie handed you already made. Your great danger will be that you do not really know how to act. You have had no opportunity to study the technique. These people who tell you: "Don't act; just be natural." are kidding, either you or themselves—perhaps both.

"Don't act; just be natural," are kidding, either you or themselves—perhaps both.

It is a subtle and difficult art. Heaven send that you may get good directors, and that you may listen to them with proper humility.

You are facing a cruel test. Other girls have been able to edge their way along, making mistakes and quietly benefiting thereby. But you are in a position where you must make all your mistakes in public. And you will not be allowed a margin of many of them.

A Letter to Rodolph Valentino

A Letter to Rodolph Valentino

Dear Mr. Valentino:
I know of nothing more entertaining than to discuss your probable ruin. I am just like the rest of them. I like to wag my head and say: "Well, he was great while he lasted, but he is slipping fast."

Of course, we all know that this is slush and nonsense. You have something that the public wants. I can't describe just what it is. Probably you can't. Anyhow, whenever you come on the screen, we all know that something worth while has happened.

And this you will never lose. You could make nineteen rotten pictures and let your box-office value slip to the dregs of emptiness. Then you could come back in a single picture.

BY A. L. WOOLDRIDGE

ARE-FISTED fights between brawny men put many thrills into picture plays and theatergoers often are heard remarking:
"Don't they get hurt?"

Here's the answer: They do—sometimes. Many aspiring screen actors have gone home with bunged-up noses, blackened eyes, bandaged heads and mighty sore bodies. The time has arrived when knowledge at the studios that a fight is to be staged is occasion for a gathering of actors, actresses, property-men, carpenters, electricians and other employees who can manage to steal a little while away from work.

A rough-and-tumble "scrap" in the street does not attract more interest among pedestrians than a screen fight does among players on the picture lots. It is an event, an occasion, a diversion. It is about the only time during the process of making a picture that the orchestra does not play and if it were to play no one would hear it.

Punches are "pulled" in screen

John Richardson and William Jes-fries staged an exciting battle aboard ship in "The Fire Patrol."

The gruelling encounter between Tom Santschi and Mitchell Lewis in "Frivolous Sal" was one of the roughest, two-fisted afairs seen on the screen since Santschi had his memorable fight with William Farnum in "The Spoilers."

the cue when Gilbert swung a hard right-arm smash and didn't duck. Re-suit—Butler went to the canvas while the stars twinkled and the birdies sang. He was days getting the sore-ness from his chin.

Elaborate Preparation Required

When the big fight scenes are made, careful preparation is observed. Clothing is ripped and then lightly sewed up so that with slight effort it will part again. A supply of dry dirt or mud, whichever is required, is made available for mussing up clothes. The make-up lox is at hand to add bloodstains at the proper time and to paint "outs" upon countenances.

Filming a fight is not a matter of a few minutes' time. Occasionally it takes hours. The event often is made in what might be termed "rounds," the camera stopping every few minutes while new blood-stains and "cuts" are supplied and clothing is properly ripped. Then, in the cutting-room, the unnecessary bits are taken out and the fight is ready to be shown as one continuous, fast and furious encounter. However, there are occasions when the fighters do their rough work in almost unbroken periods. When Victor

Harbor Tie-up Since Sunday Is Broken

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—A burst of sunshine and a breath of windboth starting about 1 o'clock this afternoon, served to shake off the heavy fog which has hung over the harbor since Sunday night. The fog had not entirely cleared later in the day and there is a strong possibility of more tomorrow, but vision was extended from about 200 feet to we miles, and the ocean liners clustered at quarantine began to move up the bay to their docks.

Ten ships with freight and passengers had been held in quarantine, and many more freighters still outside fear to cross the bar until the fog is dispelled. At 3 o'clock this afternoon of the liners delayed by the fog only the Ohio, of the Royal Mail Line from Hamburg, remained in quarantine. There came up the bay the Obstructionist Tactics;

President H. H. Braly summarizes from his letter to us as follows:

COMPANY: The Mortgage Insurance Corporation is incorporated under the laws of the State of California and operates under the provisions of the California Mortgage Insurance Act, which authorizes the issuance of these Insured First Mortgage Certificates. As required by law, the Company has a paid-up capital of $250,000 and in addition a paid up surplus of $50,000. Operations are under the close supervision of the State Insurance Commissioner.

CERTIFICATES: These Certificates represent a participating interest in 153 first deeds of trust to-taling over $500,000, which are deposited with the Trustee. These liens are se-cured by improved and productive California real estate, appraised at $1,154,434, or more than twice the amount of these Certificates. Under the Mortgage Insurance Act, all appraisals are made by appraisers approved by both the Superintendent of Banks and the Insurance Commissioner of Cali-

Principal and interest on the deposited liens are payable in monthly installments extending over a ten-year period. The maturity of these Certificates is so arranged that payments upon the deposited liens will at all times be sufficient to meet both principal and interest on the certificates

INSURANCE: Every deposited deed of trust is accompanied by a policy of mortgage insurance insuring the payment of principal and interest thereon. In addition, the Company in the trust agreement guarantees that on or before the maturity of each Certificate, sufficient monies will be paid to the Trustee to meet both principal and interest requirements. Adequate fire insurance policies covering all mortgaged property, are deposited with the Trustee.

MANAGEMENT: Expert management of the Corporation is assured by the following officers and directors who have had many years' local experience in real estate, construction, insurance and banking: President H. H. Braly; Vice-President, Arthur H. Braly; Executive Vice-President, Chas. B. Hopper; Secretary, Shepard Mitchell; Directors: J. A. Jevne, Harold L. Arnold,

This well is down 4296 feet.

Sentinel Plugs Well

The Sentinel Oil Company is plugging back its Brown No. 1, nearly a mile northwest of the Athens area of the Rosecrain field, according to field reports. This well originally was drilled to 5410 feet and is now plugged to 5238 feet.

The Sentinel well caused a considerable stir in the Athens district by staging a gas blowout several months ago. A production test two weeks ago showed about 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, but little oil and much water. The trouble was diagnosed as bottom water and the well was ordered plugged back.

Spud New Well

plugged back.

Spud New Well

The Union Oil Company yesterday spudded in ita Howard Park
No. 10 well on the northern line of the Howard Park lesse, offsetting the Marine Corporation.

The Union is setting eight-inch casing in its Howard Park No. 7 well at 5012 feet, where a good oil sand was reported.

No Water Shut-off

The Henderson Petroleum Corporation has failed to get a water shut-off in its Susanna well on the eastern side of the Dominguez field and has resumed drilling, according to field reports. The well is down 4160 feet and is exploring to the eight-inch pipe before going to the expense of setting a second string of casing.

Getty Gets Gas

George F. Getty's Athens No. 1 well has picked up strong showings of gas at 4700 feet, according to field reports.

George F. Cetty's Athens No. 1 well has picked up strong showings of gas at 4700 feet, according to field reports.

Marine Seta Pipe

The Marine Corporation is setting eight-inch casing at 4220 feet in its No. 32 well in the Athens district at Rosserans, according to field reports. A good oil sand was found as this point, it is said.

The Marine is having trouble with its No. 22 well, located in the Maxwell area, and is ripping the six-inch casing. Bottom of this well is at 4286 feet.

WILDCATS DOWN MILE IN VALLEY

No Indications Found of Oil in Three Wells; Stands of Casing Part

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 10.-Showing only negative results, three wildcat wells in the San Joaquin Valley have reached a depth of a mile or more in tests The Ventura avenue field in of new areas without any indica-entura yielded up another excel-tions at present of ever becoming aused operators in that district to lassify it as probably a 2000-bar-bi producer.

In the Rio Bravo test well being drilled by the Union Oil Company the drill has passed below 5000 caused operators in that district to classify it as probably a 2000-barrel producer.

The well was flowing into the sump hole until about the middle of the afternoon, at which time if had cleaned up to such an extent that it was turned into the tanks. Company officials said last night that they would not be able to take a twenty-four-hour gauge on the flow until afternoon today, the well would do upward of 2000 larrels.

The Notten No. 5 is located about half a mile west and a little to the south of the Lloyd guahers which were recently brought in by the Associated Oil Company.

To Test Well
The United Oil Company is preparing to swab its Domingues No. 2 in the southeastern part of the Domingues field, according to official reports. This well is down 4320 feet, to which point it was plugged when bottom water developed several weeks ago during the initial production test.

Outpost Well Dies
The Marland Oil Company's Domingues No. 5 well, the most southerly producing well in the Domingues field, located only a few hundred feet from the Standmingues field, located only a few hundred feet from the Standard Oil Company's 5000-foot dry hole, has succumbed to the steady invasion of water which began shortly after its completion, and is now off production, according to field reports. This well came in at a depth of 4296 feet with an initial production of about 1800 barrels, which at first was clean oil, but a few days later began to show a steadily increasing water content.

The Marland is balling its Domingues No. 6 for a water test. This well is down 4296 feet.

MINING REVIVAL DELAYED SECURITY AT

Recent Evidences of Activity Caused by Demand from Industry; Ore Bodies Scarce

The long-heralded and greatly delayed mining revival, evidence of which has been cropping out within recent days in reports of increased production and greater interest on the part of speculatively inclined investors, is ascribed by Sidney Norman, representative in Los Angeles of large copper interests and former newspaper mining editor, to several factors, chief of which is the natural demand resulting from highly amplified activity in industrial fields.

amplified activity in industrial fields.

From an investment standpoint, the blames the odium attached to mining for the tail-end part it is playing in the tremendous awak ening of business within the United States.

MINING SHARES LOST

"Following the election," Mr. Norman asserted, "industrials and rails were lifted far above the level they had pursued for months by a gain and this was negligible.
"The decline in silver output last year was 1,371,000 ounces.

Norman asserted, "industrials and rails were lifted far above the level they had pursued for months by a flood of public money held in the banks until propitious conditions prevented. Mr. Norman declared that the highest his so in the way. He predicted a period of sustained intensive development that while unbeknown to the average person, is the only recourse of an industry that has been facing prospects of total oblivion.

"Modern metallurgical science must bestir itself to make profitable bestirely to the individual prospection." "Increasing difficulty to obtain that they must each year set aside considerable sums for exploration and development, in the past left in the tide of the present mines," said the observer. "The copper mines of Butte and Michigan are going so deep that an increasing expense of operation may throttle them. The already proven porphyry mines have been skimmed of the richer surface ores and with increasing depths the mineral content is decreasing, obviously presenting a problem that must result in one of two things—abandonment or remarkable scientific treatments.

"Lightning Gas"

You know, a lot of people that see some particular product well advertised, arrive at the conclusion that the product in question is no better than any other brand of said product, and in many instances, their conclusion is undoubtedly correct, but then again, hundreds of thousands of people do themselves a great injustice by using inferior quality goods when they could be using the best, had they heeded the advertisement they read.

I, myself, am a good example of the point I want to bring out. A few years back I used to be continually troubled with headaches, and while I had been reading for years about Bayer's Aspirin Tablets, being a cure for headaches, I never paid much attention to the advertisements, until one day a friend of mine insisted that I take a couple of tablets. In ten minutes my headache was gone, and I just thought to myself what a sap I was not to have tried Aspirin long before.

And so it is with you and "LIGHT-NING GAS" and while your motor may not have a headache today, as sure as you continue to use fuel that promotes carbon trouble, sooner or later that Motor is going to be more or less sick.

"Do you know why your old bus does not develop the power it did when it was new? Nothing else but sticky valves and carbon trouble.

Do you know why "331/3" per cent of the gas you put in your tank goes out your exhaust without having ever fired? Nothing in the world but carbon in the gasoline you buy.

Now what I want every reader of this Now what I want every reader of this piece of advice to do, is at your first opportunity, drive into a "JULIAN STATION," have your tank as close to empty as you can, and fill up on "LIGHTNING", because if there is another brand of gasoline in the world today in the class of "LIGHTNING" I don't know it, and the actual results you will get from only one trial, I know will sell you on it.

I feel I can safely say to every motorist, that even at the advanced price of three cents a gallon, "LIGHTNING" will show you thirty-five per cent more value than the gasoline you are now using, even if that gas happens to be our own "DEFIANCE" which we are also marketing at the same price as all. also marketing at the same price as all other standard gasolines.

Remember that until February 19th, you may fill up on "LIGHTNING" at 18½ cents, but from then on, it will cost you three cents a gallon more, but we are not doubtful about your being satisfied to pay the advance after using "LIGHTNING" just once.

All I ask is try it out and if you are not converted, never drive into a "JULIAN STATION" again.

"I'd say we're pretty sure of our stuff," and the big kick is, "LIGHT-NING" is a secret known to us alone, and should make "JULIAN PETE" quite a few million iron men.
